Meredith Back On March; Not At All Pleased

TOUGALOO, Miss. (AP) — James H. Meredith, celebrating his 33rd birthday, today resumed his journey to end fear 159 miles down U.S. 51 from the point where he was ambushed. The slender Negro, disappointed because the column of marchers who took over his trek did not await his arrival in Canton—16 miles north of this college community on the outskirts of Jackson, Mississippi's capital city. Meredith, who broke the racial bar at the University of Mississippi in 1962, started the unique marathon civil rights effort June 5 in Memphis, Tenn., as a one-man crusade. He was wounded by shotgun fire the next day.

Charge Is They Lied To Judge During Hearing

DETROIT (AP) — Suddenly a one-man grand jury investigation has erupted with the indictment of 17 Detroit policemen. No one has been convicted, or even tried, for that matter. But the rash of indictments—eight Friday; nine the day before—revived memories of one of America's top police scandals. It happened in Detroit in 1941 and was uncovered by a one-man grand jury. In that scandal 25 years ago, a mayor, police superintendent, sheriff, prosecutor and at least eight high ranking police officers went to prison. More than a score of policemen got probationary sentences. All were accused of taking gambler pay-offs. One of the newly indicted was only 5 years old then; many in their teens or younger. The eight indicted Friday were accused of "perjury for falsely swearing (to the grand jury) they did not receive money and/or whisky and/or other things of value" from four different barkeepers. The nine indicted a day earlier also were charged with lying about acceptance of gifts or money. Four, including three now accused of perjury, previously had been indicted on charges of conspiring to accept bribes.

Still Calls Witnesses
The grand jury is empowered to sit until Aug. 31 and still is calling witnesses. Police Commissioner Ray Girardin, while conducting his own investigation into names of officers found in three "little black books" confiscated by grand jury raiders of a suspected Greektown gambling spot, has cautioned that members of his 4,500-man force "must be considered innocent until proven guilty." All the accused, plus an inspector and a sergeant whose names apparently appear in the "little black books," however, have been suspended. So has an inspector who vacationed at the same Florida motel as the Greektown spot proprietor. Girardin, once ace of Detroit's newspaper crime reporters, and his boss, Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh are untouched by any breath of scandal.

No Politics
Cavanagh, however, may find the police indictments bunched into an obstacle in his current campaign for Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate. His opponent, G. Mennen Williams, a six-times former governor, has ignored them. So has the lone Republican senatorial candidate, incumbent Robert P. Griffin.

The one-man grand jury is an unusual Michigan institution and this one started out originally to investigate alleged traffic ticket fixing in the sheriff's department.

A one man grand jury is created by the circuit judge (or judges) serving a particular county. The court may act on petition of the attorney general, a prosecutor, a citizen (or group) or on its own initiative. A prosecutor's refusal of warrant can be grounds for a citizens' petition.

Judges Named Piggins
The judges name the grand jury, and in this case the Wayne (Detroit) County circuit picked one from its 20-member bench, Edward S. Piggins, himself a police commissioner under the late Mayor Albert E. Cobo.

Attorney General Frank P. Kelley petitioned for this one. The system is an institution which has catapulted jurors or their special prosecutors into the U.S. Senate, the Michigan governor's chair and the State Supreme Court.

Homer Ferguson, then a circuit judge named grand juror, gained sufficient fame in the 1941 police scandals to win a seat in the U.S. Senate. Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr, his special prosecutor, became supreme court justice and governor, respectively, in the wake of a 1945 Lansing legislative scandal in which State Sen. Warren G. Hooper was ambushed and slain a day before he was to testify.

Red Defectors Tell Of Severe Food Shortage

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—An increasingly effective South Vietnamese and American psychological warfare program is bringing in hundreds of defectors.

Their stories indicate growing tensions among the 250,000 or so men who make up the regular North Vietnamese forces and Viet Cong guerrilla units in the south.

Defectors and captured prisoners are increasingly complaining of food shortages. One recent prisoner said he had eaten nothing but bananas for five days. Some report that rice is severely rationed in their areas. Many are shocked by the hardships of the 60 to 90-day march south. Some arrive in the south suffering with beriberi, malaria, or severe dysentery.

Many were told they were coming south to fight Americans and find themselves fighting Vietnamese.

American airpower is being used anything they had been warned about.

The guerrilla soldiers of the south also have their special gripes.

One of the foremost is the increasing hardship of their life in the field. This is coupled with assaults. Rice shortages in some areas have added to their hardships.

In recent months there also is evidence of friction between Viet Cong troops and North Vietnamese regulars. All these complaints, and many more, are unlikely to cause serious defections at this stage of the war. But they are ready targets for propaganda and this is going out daily via leaflets, radio broadcasts, front-line loudspeakers and even loudspeakers on low flying planes.

Clean Water Bill Is $900 Million Sportsmen Told

MARQUETTE (AP) — Gov. George Romney reported Friday that "the edge of the wedge" has been put in to cure water pollution.

Romney, speaking before the Michigan United Conservation Clubs convention at Marquette, said the last few years have been great ones for Michigan conservation.

Federal Auto Standards Bill Passes Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted a double-barreled attack at slaughter on the nation's highways — expected to take 50,000 lives this year.

In rapid order Friday, senators:

— Passed 76-0 a far-reaching auto safety bill that would set unprecedented mandatory federal safety standards for car-makers.

— Approved by voice vote a $465-million measure designed to make a broader and more effective attack on traffic safety problems. There were no nay votes.

Both bills were sent to the House where committees are now at work on companion measures. House leaders said today there was no doubt these would be acted on favorably later in the session.

The unanimous Senate votes reflected the serious concern at the Capitol over the steadily mounting total of highway deaths and injuries.

Sponsors said they believed the provisions of the two bills taken together should result in an effective attack on the three elements involved in traffic accidents — the car, the driver and the road.

President Johnson hailed the Senate action on the legislation, which went beyond his recommendations in some respects.

He urged the House to follow suit quickly, declaring that "for the first time in our history we can mount a truly comprehensive attack on the rising toll of death and destruction on the nation's highways."

Obscene Movie Verdict: Guilty

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Theater owner Floyd Bloss was found guilty by a jury Friday night of a charge of showing an obscene motion picture. The seven men and five women jurors returned their verdict to Kent County Circuit Court after deliberating eight hours. The charge was brought in connection with the showing of a movie, "A Woman's Urge." A codefendant, Billy Sturgess, manager of the theater, has requested a trial without a jury. The trial is yet to be scheduled.

Capitol's Fire Danger Argued

LANSING (AP) — The issue of whether Michigan's 87-year-old capitol building is a fire trap came up again Friday after a fire on the staircase from the third to the fourth floor.

"It is a fire trap," said Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint. The small fire, quickly extinguished, could have turned into a disaster, he said, if normal crowds of children had been in the building.

The crowds often runs as high as 2,000 youngsters, Lane said he would seek new controls on visitors to the capitol.

"Any fire in the capitol building could wind up as a catastrophe because of the open stairwells, open shafts," said Glen Tanner, State Police fire marshal. "This has been known for years."

But, John Gafner, state property manager, maintained the capitol still is the safest of all the buildings owned by the state.

"As far as burning or collapsing, it's impossible," Gafner said. "This is the safest building we've got. It doesn't conform with modern fire regulations, but show me a capitol that does."

A workman's torch set fire to a tarpaulin covering a stairwell remodeling project Thursday, touching off flames that could be seen from the floor of the Senate, which was in session.

Mumps Vaccine Very Effective

CHICAGO (AP) — A new vaccine against mumps appears nearly 100 per cent effective, a scientist reported today — and his own 8-year-old daughter had a hand in developing it.

She supplied the strain of virus that is "tamed" or attenuated to produce the live-virus vaccine.

The scientist is Dr. Maurice R. Hilleman of the Merck Institute for Therapeutic Research, West Point, Pa. The virus is called the Jeryl Lynn strain, after his daughter who came down with mumps three years ago.

In one test involving school-age and younger children, the vaccine was 98 per cent effective in preventing mumps among children exposed to natural virus infection, Dr. Hilleman told the American Therapeutics Society.

Vaccinated youngsters have shown protective antibodies for as long as seven months, he said, raising hopes that one vaccination may confer life long immunity.

The new vaccine is not yet available for general use. It must undergo broader testing before it can be considered for government license.

Mumps, generally a mild disease, sometimes leads to serious complications, especially in adults.

Dr. Hilleman developed the new vaccine with Dr. Eugene Buynak of Merck. Clinical tests were carried out with Drs. Robert E. Weibel and Joseph Stokes Jr., of the University of Pennsylvania, Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, and Lankenau Hospital.

Soviet's Space Center Stop In De Gaulle Visit

NOVOSIBIRSK, U.S.S.R. (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle of France visited the secret Soviet space center from which Soviet cosmonauts are launched, Tass disclosed today.

The official Soviet news agency said "it has become known that on his way from Novosibirsk to Leningrad President Charles de Gaulle will visit the Baikunur cosmodrome."

Informed sources had reported earlier that the visit would take place, making De Gaulle the first foreign leader known to have seen the normally inaccessible space center. The site is about 1,200 miles southeast of Moscow in central Asia.

Baikunur lies in the deserts of the Soviet central Asian region of Kazakhstan. From there, De Gaulle was to fly 1,550 miles northwest to Leningrad, the next scheduled stop on his 11-day tour of the Soviet Union.

Some reports had indicated De Gaulle might witness the launching of a Soviet space vehicle. France and the Soviet Union will sign next Thursday an agreement on cooperation in space research and the exploitation of space for communications purposes.

Auto Club Sees Record Travel For The Fourth

DETROIT (AP) — Motorists driving close to home this fourth of July weekend are warned that they will be most likely to have a fatal accident.

The warning comes from the Michigan Automobile Club, which estimates nearly 3.3 million cars will travel state highways over the holiday.

"Based on our survey of accidents which occurred over Memorial Day," said the Auto Club's general manager, Fred Rehn, "we know that 84 per cent of those who died in traffic accidents were within a 25-mile radius of home and not on a holiday trip."

The 3.3 million figure is a record, according to the Auto Club, and is 10 per cent above last year's record holiday travel for the 4th.

UP Road, Lake Park Stymie Legislature; Returning Wednesday

LANSING (AP) — The House and Senate walked out on each other early today — and now they'll have to come back next week to complete work on the budget.

While the temperature hovered in the 90s and tempers rose to meet it, the two chambers found they could not agree on two local projects — an Upper Peninsula road and a Southern Michigan state park.

Their failure ties up some $38.9 million that should be ready for use at the start of the next fiscal year, July 1.

The house adjourned immediately after the membership refused to go along with a Senate-approved park plan contained in the $71.4 million capital outlay bill.

The Senate, which has the $314.5 million restricted fund bill still under consideration, adjoined immediately afterward. (Restricted funds go automatically into several areas—such as highway construction and maintenance. The legislature can only apportion the funds within those areas.)

Shirt-sleeved legislators — worn out from four straight days of morning to night sessions and anxious to get home — bolted for the doors at the last rap of the gavel.

"We've just got to give those guys some time to cool off," said Majority Floor Leader J. Bob Traxler, D-Bay City.

Giant Bombers Hammer Supply Areas Of Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Giant B52 bombers pounded enemy supply areas in the central highlands today as U.S. troops continued two separate, large-scale operations against Communist forces.

Elements of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division clashed with North Vietnamese army regulars in the highlands near the Cambodian border for the third straight day and reported killing 53. This brought the Communist toll to 90 for the past three days.

About 800 men are taking part in the action begun on May 10 and known as Operation Paul Revere.

Meanwhile, the U.S. 1st Cavalry (Airmobile), Division's Operation Nathan Hale went into its sixth day in an area about 240 miles northeast of Saigon.

Two U.S. Navy planes were shot down by North Vietnamese ground fire.

In South Viet Nam, Communist ground troops shot down a U.S. transport helicopter, killing six aboard. Two were wounded in a car collision which killed two people. Collision occurred near Weymouth, 130 miles from London. The prince has been on a training course at a British army camp in Dorset. (AP Wirephoto by cable from London)

The craft was one of a dozen hit while flying a battalion of air cavalrymen to support the Nathan Hale operation.

Two other choppers had to be lifted out of the area by a huge CH-47 Chinook helicopter. The others hit were able to make it out under their own power.

The battalion was added as the operation went into its sixth day and brought to five the number of battalions involved. This amounts to about 8,000 American troops, including artillery and support elements.

U.S. troops have reported killing 384 of the enemy in the operation so far. American casualties were reported light in proportion to the number of troops involved.

Tourists Like Targets

Destination Areas Called U.P. Need

By W. H. TRELOAR

Of The Panax Newspapers

HOUGHTON — One of the past chief difficulties in the path of Upper Peninsula tourism development, Dr. Uel Blank, formerly of Michigan State University, told travel editors in the final day of their three-day inspection of U. P. tourism facilities, is that "we have been trying to sell woods and water to the urban market, a majority of whom are bored with the woods, and often times afraid of it."

Speaking at Michigan Tech

Memorial Center, he summarized the needs of the Peninsula,

as determined by a two-year study, as being:

Need For Selling

1. The need for selling programming, through development of "see and do" major tourism attractions and complexes, which meet consumer satisfaction.

2. An overall pattern of creating tourist destination areas, each with its own center, where people would specifically want to see the "Soo Country," the "Indian Head Country," etc.

where there would be a pinpointed array of attractions within each area.

3. Interpretation, whereby each center would help sell all other areas, through knowledge of all the attractions within each tourist destination area, being able to interpret maps,

and to tell visitors something about the particular appeals of major destination areas.

4. Blending of public and private funds and efforts, each complementing the other, with a common goal in mind. He said the compromise which made the Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore a definite probability was "a fascinating study in what can be achieved" by this blending of public and private interest.

Panel On Tourism

Editors heard from a panel which discussed briefly the part they had in developing facets of tourist picture. Lynn Sandberg, scribed his company's program

tion. William Vesser, Houghton,

vice president of U.P. Power

Co., told of the growth of the electric power systems in the Peninsula and then gave a brief description of the restoration project at Quincy Holst,

Hancock.

Win Schuler, Marshall, a restaurant authority said what was counted most in his business was the tourism "people go where they are liked." He felt that the inherent warm hospitality of the northern section should be transmitted "in a very real sense" by letting the tourist know he is wanted and he is liked.

Advisory Groups, State In Agreement

Antlerless Deer Hunt Quotas To Be Reduced

Michigan's take of antlerless deer will be substantially reduced this fall. Recommendations aired in Lansing by both the Conservation Department and eight Citizens' Advisory Committees on Deer call for a conservative approach.

Compared with last year's kill quotas, their proposals would cut back the antlerless deer harvest by 37 to 43 per cent in the northern two-thirds of the state. Collectively, the eight northern advisory groups are proposing the bigger reduction.

Their recommendations will be studied further by the Conservation Commission, and a single set of regulations will be adopted at its July 7-8 meeting at the Higgins Lake Conservation School.

Department game biologists scaled down their antlerless deer quotas by 37 per cent for Northern Michigan. Five of the eight citizens' committees made identical recommendations. They fully endorsed the Department's proposals for the Baraga, Escanaba, Newberry, Gaylord, and Gladwin districts.

Only in the Crystal Falls, Cadillac, and Mio districts did the committees and Department game men fail to see eye to eye, and in two of those, their differences were minor.

The advisory group for the Crystal Falls District has pared down the Department's antlerless deer quota for Dickinson County by about 350 animals.

In the Cadillac District, the committee thinks the number of antlerless deer hunting permits to be offered should be trimmed about 20 per cent below the Department's proposed take of antlerless animals in its district. It simply believes the percentage of hunter success will be higher than the Department anticipates.

In the widest difference of thinking, members of the Mio District committee voted for a 50 per cent reduction in the Department's suggested antlerless deer quota for this area.

For the Upper Peninsula, the Department is recommending an antlerless deer kill of 16,355, about 12 per cent below last year's quota. Reflected in this are toned-down kill quotas along the Lake Superior watershed where winter deer losses are normally heaviest, and the elimination of the Keweenaw Peninsula from antlerless deer hunting.

As proposed by the Department, about 63,000 antlerless deer hunting permits would be issued for the Upper Peninsula, some nine per cent fewer than in 1965. The region's antlerless deer area would be reduced from 18,300 to 15,800 square miles.

Bigger cuts in kill quotas, permits, and hunting area are planned for the northern Lower Peninsula.

Overall, the Department recommendations for Northern Michigan are tied to a decline in deer numbers which are down slightly in the Upper Peninsula and more so in the northern Lower Peninsula. Game men say the situation is not especially serious, but it calls for conservative treatment in setting this fall's hunting regulations.

The Department's proposed quotas also take account of recent public criticism over last fall's deer season, a factor which weighs heavily in reductions called for by the citizens' committees in the Crystal Falls, Cadillac, and Mio districts.

The committees, in upholding the Department's deer management approach, expressed greatest concern over illegal deer kill. Some of their members estimated that this drain on the herd approaches each season's legal take in their northern districts.

Several committee chairmen urged that legislation be passed to tighten law enforcement.

LEWIS & CLARK EXPLORE THE FABULOUS PURCHASE THAT CHANGED OUR DESTINY
Of all the transactions ever made in history, none was a bigger bargain, or more important, than the one we made in 1803 when we bought French territory west of the Mississippi for 15-million dollars.
How big a bargain was that? We got all or part of what is now Arkansas, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Wyoming for about 3-cents an acre!
This was named the Louisiana Purchase because all that land was then called Louisiana.
Meriwether Lewis and William Clark then led an expedition to explore and open up this territory.
Much credit must also go to President Jefferson, Robert Livingston and James Monroe who engineered this fabulous purchase.
Just think how much smaller, poorer and less powerful we would have been without the Louisiana Purchase.

Natural Resources Get Stress

MSU Shapes New U.P. Plan

Leaders of Michigan's agricultural education program conferred with farm leaders from 4 counties at the Stone House Friday night in the last of 16 state meetings seeking counsel on reform of Michigan State University's Extension services.

Dean Thomas Cowden of the MSU College of Agriculture led the air tour party, which was at Sault Ste. Marie Thursday night, at Houghton Friday noon.

Other members of the party included: Pat Ralston, director of Extension Service; George McIntyre, assistant director; Sylvan Wittwer, director, experiment stations; and Fred Buelow, in charge of the teaching program on campus.

Upper Peninsula agricultural leaders have expressed concern for several years about a reduction of extension services to this area, growing out of a rapidly changing farm economy, reorientation of MSU's program and reduced state appropriations.

Offices Unfilled
Three county agricultural agent offices are unfilled at the present time in the Upper Peninsula. Both Dean Cowden and McIntyre said here that interviews are being conducted at the present time to fill these offices.

Both men said that the Michigan Legislature has been good to MSU and its Extension Service this year and that they would be able to carry forward a good program in the Upper Peninsula. It will be changing in response to new needs. There will be more specialization and research will be conducted where it can be most useful.

Dean Cowden said: "All our meetings have heard a stress from farmers on 'marketing,' by which they mean higher prices. They are too low for farmers considering the great general affluence in the nation. The labor problem is troublesome on the farms, particularly downstate. And the farmers are very much concerned about the image of agriculture."

Dean Cowden did not elaborate on the "image" concern but presumably it is tied up with such troubles as President Johnson's recent suggestion to housewives that food prices are too high.

Research Requested
"There were many requests for more research work on forages—grasses for livestock pasturage. And there is much interest in Extension's reorganization in the redistribution of 4-H Club agents, and in higher education for our young people. We have talked about more specialization in the county field staffs."

"The cereal leaf beetle is a hot topic downstate. We thought we were making headway in control downstate, but there was an outbreak just this week."

"All the questions at these conferences are recorded and will be reviewed in developing a program to meet our needs. We discussed the university's role and our national responsibilities in the world food situation. The world population is expected to double in the next 35 years. The real impact on agriculture will depend on what the federal government does or does not do in international relations.

Looking Ahead
"It is my judgment that it will not solve all the agricultural problems, but I think that there will be a much more favorable attitude toward agriculture. People will realize that job that American agriculture has done to feed the public."

"The Legislature has treated us quite well this year and here in the Upper Peninsula we will emphasize natural resources of the area—the land—forest products—wildlife—hunting and fishing and tourism. How to get the most from our resources for local people."

"On July 1 we will reorganize the work on campus and we will carry through to the field force. We have natural resource agents now and the change to new specialization is difficult because we have been oriented to agriculture for so long. Now we are oriented to the total land resources. The new paper mill proposed for Munising can have a tremendous impact on Alger County, for instance. Our program will vary from area to area."

U. P. Interests

"The U. P. has been specially interested in the progress in forages for both dairy and beef cattle. It is also interested in new agricultural commodities, in strawberries, blueberries, cranberries, certified seed potatoes, lettuce and cabbage."

"Even though Michigan State has become very large, agriculture is not losing out in its program. We have 12 new facilities that have been occupied in the past year or will be this year, ranging through biochemistry, veterinary clinic, packaging, beef cattle research, forest nursery, plant science laboratory, natural resources, food sciences, horticulture farm, poultry farm, greenhouses and entomology field station."

The Escanaba meeting was attended by 45 agricultural leaders from the counties of Marquette, Dickinson, Menominee, Delta and Schoolcraft. Joseph L. Heirman, Delta County MSU Extension director, presided.

Buelow charged that much high school counseling is not knowledgeable about agriculture and regards it only in terms of farming, whereas it is a huge industry with three well-paid jobs for every graduate of the agricultural colleges.

THE MICHIGAN Municipal Clerk's Association wound up their three-day convention in Escanaba by selecting their entire slate of officers. Detroit was awarded the 1967 convention, scheduled next February. Officers include, back row from left, Robert J. Stadler, Bloomfield Hills, executive committee; Mrs. Dorothy B. Manley, Huntington Woods, president; Arthur J. Leutscher, Muskegon, second vice president; Lloyd Hendon, Flint, first vice president; front row, from left, Donald Guindon, Escanaba, executive committee; Max Pierce, Jonesville, executive committee, and Charles Rhodes, St. Joseph, third vice president. New Industry

Announcement by Oxford Paper Co. and Governor Romney that the firm plans a $100 million pulp and paper mill at Munising is news of immense interest and stimulation in the Upper Peninsula.

Our wood industries have always been cited as the Peninsula's best enduring prospect for industrial growth because wood is a renewable resource and minerals, once mined, are gone.

The Oxford project is based on the pulping wood resources of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., which owns 840,000 acres of Upper Peninsula woodlands. CCI has been the chief single author of the Upper Peninsula's current mineral industry boom. Acting with and for its partners in several iron mining, beneficiation and pelletizing projects it has revived expiring shaft mining of iron on the Marquette range in what amounts to an economic miracle.

And several years ago it started the planning process which has resulted in the Oxford Paper Co. announcement of intention to build a big paper mill at Munising. The plans are conditioned by amendment of Michigan's new industrial revenue bonding act to assist financing of the first $70 million phase of the project.

The Oxford announcement came the same day that Field Enterprises, Inc., was celebrating the completion of the second phase of a development program at its Manistique Pulp & Paper Co. and in a period in which Mead Corp. has been developing plans for possible enlargement of its Escanaba mill. These developments all project enlarged wood needs, some actual and immediate, some prospective.

Oxford's announcement said that it would count on wood from federal, state and private forest sources as well as from CCI forest lands. The project brings a welcome new element of competition to the wood market in the mid-Upper Peninsula, but also points approach to a limit of the U. P.'s ability to supply wood at present for more large pulp operations.

The U. S. Forest Service, largest owner of forest lands in the Eastern Upper Peninsula, will make long-term commitments for wood on a competitive bid basis. It has made no such sales in the U. P. And it would not make such a sale except above its present supply to existing industries. It does have excess allowable cut, but mostly in the easternmost U. P. in the St. Ignace and Sault rangers districts, and there only some less saleable species.

The Michigan Conservation Commission announced that it would make a million cords of wood available over a 20 year period to encourage new industry or industrial expansion in the Eastern U. P., where it has a surplus of aspen, balsam of gilead and some dense hardwoods. It has sold Abitibi and Packaging Corp. wood on long term schedules up to 10 years downstate.

That the U. P. is emerging into the promised era of enlarged wood industry with the restoration of its forests is banner headline good news. The achievement brings some problems of resource management and apportionment but nothing insuperable.

The Upper Peninsula's 6 paper mills produce 1,165 tons of paper a day, and sell 375,000 tons a year with a rough value of $85 million. The proposed Oxford mill would add 400 tons a day to U. P. production. All the U. P. mills are new or extensively rebuilt in recent years and most of the U. P.'s pulpwood now goes to Wisconsin.

Itchy-Goey

Water pollution in some of the ports of the Great Lakes is so bad that vessels will not even take on boiler water unless it is absolutely necessary.

This is not the fault of the ships, David A. Groh, chairman of the Lake Carriers' Association, told a Senate Public Works subcommittee on air and water pollution. The pollution comes from the cities and industries along the lake shores—or, as a latter-day Longfellow might write, on the banks of the "Itchy-Goey."

Lake vessel operators and crews are conscious of the pollution problem, he says, because they work on the lakes and drink lake water. Since 1950, every new vessel built on the Great Lakes has included some kind of sewage treatment facility. Since 1960, they have been using a highly efficient bacteriological and oxygen process which actually digests waste.

"Nevertheless," says Groh, "it has been impossible to obtain approval of this system or any other system by the U.S. Public Health Service."

Why not?

Simply because "there are no official standards or criteria for waste treatment facilities."

Without some universal standards, there is not going to be much enforcement. Without enforcement, there is not going to be an end to pollution—whether in the water or the air, whether in the Great Lakes or any of the nation's waterways.

What we will have, however, is plenty of talking and complaining.

Voice Of Wonder

This fellow who makes his own little public opinion polls by merely eavesdropping on the public has done it again.

By tuning in on private conversations in elevators, buses, stores, ball parks, locker rooms, bowling alleys and other spots he's too polite to divulge, he says this is what people are saying:

● Would you ever have believed that one 31-year-old adversary could make the biggest corporation in America practically get down on its knees to apologize to him before an important U.S. Senate committee and in front of millions of television viewers?

● How come a top U. S. government official says one week that the anti-American and other riots in Viet Nam are having little or no effect on our fighting over there and the next week that these riots have cut our fighting efficiency by almost 40 per cent?

● It would be easier to make up your mind whether you're for Goldwater or Fulbright in their Viet Nam squabble if you didn't have a sneaking suspicion that both of them may be about half right.

● Safety critics of automobile defects now say that at a 20-mile-per-hour impact the doors, hood and trunk of a Rolls-Royce will fly open. You suppose someone has enough dough to crash-test Rolls-Royces?

● How come the churches and God-fearing people in general haven't put up a bigger, noisier fight to make God a little less like a dirty word?

Mississippi Changes

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

The Mississippi civil rights marchers are plodding through has changed significantly on the racial front. But the marchers are having very little to do with it.

Veterans observers in the state say the march probably will produce only a negligible advance in Negro voting registration. They even suggest that, left to themselves, Mississippi Negro leaders like Charles Evers of the NAACP might well produce better gains.

Since the Voting Rights Act of 1965 took effect, some 30,000 additional Negroes have registered in Mississippi—lifting the total to 132,000. By one estimate, the figure may rise to 175,000 by the next statewide election in 1967.

There are other changes, some measurable in figures, some not. All but a score of Mississippi's 149 school districts have indicated compliance with federal guidelines on school desegregation. According to one observer:

"The situation can be described as good, healthy tokenism . . . Mississippians have undertaken desegregation in some places where people said it would never happen."

Fourteen Negroes attended the University of Mississippi (O' Miss) in the 1965-66 year, and 30 are enrolled in summer sessions. It was here, of course, that James Meredith, initiator of the present march, broke the color barrier in 1962.

This autumn, the first significant introduction of Negroes to public school teaching rosters will occur in desegregated schools. It will be a tough hurdle for many white parents to get over.

On the job line, many changes have taken place. In the year since the nondiscriminatory hiring provisions of the 1964 Civil Rights Act took effect, most manufacturers have employed more Negro help and upgraded what they already had. Business leaders and organizations labored hard to make the changes acceptable.

Industrial plant facilities like restaurants are desegregated. Only occasionally has there been trouble.

Similar hiring changes are noted in retail stores and other establishments. Buses are integrated. So are many public restaurants and hotel facilities. Recently a Negro medical fraternity held a ball in Jackson's best-known hotel. Banquets are common.

Yet changes of this sort are being seriously resisted, too.

Though the figures may change some in the final days before Medicare takes effect July 1, only 17 of Mississippi's 132 hospitals had signed up for participation in the program as of this writing.

On the school front, dissatisfied whites are turning more and more to private schools to avoid desegregation. The White Citizens' Councils, badly thinned down after failing to halt the change in public schools, are lending themselves to this move as part of a revival effort.

While Negro registration is up, only 35,000 of 132,000 voted in recent primaries. Democratic party leaders are hearing that Negroes next year may win state legislative seats in as many as four counties, but they are not publicly acknowledging the changing prospect.

Symbolic of resistance at the political level is the fact that today former Gov. Ross Barnett, stout segregationist, is the overwhelming bet for the 1967 governorship nomination. His candidacy got a whopping boost from the Alabama primary victory of Mrs. Lurleen Wallace, wife of Gov. George Wallace. Barnett talks Wallace for president in 1968.

Business leaders bent on promoting a changing Mississippi image are united in searching desperately for an alternative to Barnett. Right now they have none. But even if he is elected again, the educated guessing is that Mississippi will go on changing.

Finding The Way

In Gratitude To God

By RALPH W. LOEW, D. D.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

It's amazing, shocking—certainly not amusing to see what we try to do with an ancient word of Scripture, especially when we confront some of the same situations in our own day. Here, for instance, is an astute observation of James Reston, the respected news columnist: "In every city and community there seems to be a small group of leaders who believe that the job can be done and are helping. But most people still seem to be sticking to the old Biblical idea that 'Ye have the poor always with you.'"

Obviously, there are all too many who quote that as though it were Jesus' statement in support of the "do-nothings" who regard anyone working at alleviating poverty as a "do-gooder." "You'll always have the poor, so why try anything?" they say.

As though you would state: "You always have sick people, so why try to do any healing?" Or, "You'll always have some ignorant people in the world, so why try to educate?"

The quotation was lifted from the story of Jesus and the woman with the alabaster box of ointment. She wanted to express her gratitude and so brought this expensive gift, broke the box, and used the perfumed ointment in the manner of the Orient in anointing Jesus.

It was at this point that one of the disciples said, "This ought to have been sold and given to the poor." To which Jesus replied, "Why do you trouble the woman for she has done a beautiful thing to me? For you always have the poor with you but you will not always have me. In pouring this ointment on my body, she has done it to prepare me for burial. Truly, I say to you, wherever the Gospel is preached, in the whole world, what this woman has done will be told in memory of her."

That's the story and it is shocking to find moderns, as Reston says, picking out that one verse, pulling it out of context, and using it as a cover-all to their own apathies.

If it is a Biblical recognition that we have the poor with us always, it is emphatically a Biblical idea that life ought to be shared generously out of sheer gratitude to God. Thankfulness ought to be poured out with a kind of lavishness that forgets the cost, ignores whether anyone is approving or applauding and gives itself with a kind of hilarious joy. That's what that woman did.

It needs to be done in feeding the poor, meeting the conditions of poverty, and keeping one's self in contact with all of the causes and results of poverty. And the fragrance filled the house! That same adventure in grateful living can renew that experience in our time.

PARKING, PROPERTY PROBLEMS

To the City Council and Merchants:

I would like to comment on the parking problem of Escanaba and the property they want for parking space.

I didn't know there was that much money in this town. How do you intend to buy all this property when you can't even hire a full-time dog catcher when an officer of the law has to leave his regular duties to do this job? This man is supposed to be on patrol like the rest of the deputies, but he can't be on patrol and chasing dogs at the same time. I think he respects his uniform and so do I. He should be treated like a law officer all the time and not a dog catcher.

You claim that in the next two years, Escanaba will be needing a new dumping ground. You don't say where it will be, who is going to pay for it or what the cost will be to the city.

But there are two ways out of all this mess. You could put the old street cars back on its tracks and then the people could leave their cars at home, or do like the lady from Ensign said in Monday night's Press, and charge six cents for a cup of water. You're sure going to have to sell plenty of water to pay for all this property.

These ideas may sound crazy but they're not as bad as the one you have.

We think that we are trying to keep the peace in the world and those fellows are happy to let us do it, making a dollar any chance they get. —Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N. H., on our NATO allies.

Dear Ann Landers: I can't get mail at home because my mother has X-ray eyes that can read through envelopes, if you know what I mean. Please answer immediately as I am clutched. I am 16 years old and my boy friend Hank is 17. What I need to know right away is if a girl can catch acne from a boy. We are on the verge of doing some heavy necking and I want to know what the risks are. Rush your advice as I have a date with Hank for Saturday night.—IN SEARCH OF INFORMATION

Dear Ann Landers: No, you cannot catch acne from Hank but other things can happen which would make acne seem like small potatoes. My advice to you is to cool it, Sister.

Dear Ann Landers: Too much pride can be deadly — as you have said so often in your column. I wish I had been wise enough to take your word for it because now I am choking on my pride.

A few years ago I was in love with a wonderful man. I know he loved me, too. He showed it in everything he said and did. He was kind and thoughtful and decent and greatly respected by everyone who knew him.

So what was my problem? He was about one inch shorter than I and of slight build. We never discussed it but I am sure I weighed more than he did.

I always wanted to marry a broad-shouldered, husky, brute of a man—someone I could look up at. My girlhood dream was to be carried into the bedroom on my wedding night.

Well, I married a husky, handsome brute and now I realize that the little guy is a lot bigger man than my husband will ever be. Please print my letter for the benefit of others who haven't yet made the decision.—NEW HAVEN FOOL

Dear New Haven: Here's your letter and thank you for having written it. When the word comes from the person who has been there it packs a double wallop. Are you listening, students?

Dear Ann Landers: Several years ago you said something in your column that I liked so much I cut it out and carried it in my wallet until it became yellowed with age and

I could no longer read it. It went something like this:

"Children need examples more than they need critics." Our children were small then and both my husband and I tried to follow that advice. I am happy to say it has paid off.

Our two sons behave so much like their dad that it is comical. Of course it is flattering to dad when he sees his children trying to imitate him. And I feel the same when my little girl, now seven, pretends she is me when she feeds her dolly.

I wish you would re-emphasize the importance of parents setting a good example for their children. We all need to be reminded of these homey truths from time to time.—LEARNED FROM YOU

Dear Learned: Since the clipping has been discarded I'd like to supply you with another one for your wallet. It expresses the same idea and the man who said it was Francis Quarles, 'way back in 1635.

"If thou desire to see thy child virtuous, let him not see thy father's vices. Examples direct more than precepts; such as thy behavior is before thy children's faces, will their behavior be behind your back?"

To solve some of the frustrations, disappointments and disillusionments of married life send for Ann Landers' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Motorists Need Insurance Proof

GLADSTONE — State Police today warned motorists to be sure to carry proof of insurance along with their automobile registration with them at all times while driving.

Troopers said motorists, if stopped by a patrol car for any reason, must show registration and proof of insurance. Motorists without proof of insurance will be ticketed, officers said.

The same proof required by the State of Michigan to purchase license plates is adequate.

Officers ticketed three motorists for failing to have proof of insurance Friday. They were Paul Gayeff, 703 S. 15th St., Escanaba, Daniel J. Micheau Jr., Rapid River, and Walter Eagle, Brampton.

Gayeff was also ticketed for no registration in vehicle and Micheau for excessive noise. Jerry Artley, Cornell, was ticketed for excessive noise.

John Kowalski, 66, Rte. 1, Powers, was given a summons for improper overtaking and passing after his car ran into the rear of a car driven by Clara Posenke, 68, of Rte. 1, Bark River, at 2 p.m. Friday on U. S. 2 and 41 about 12 miles west of Escanaba.

Clara Posenke and Mary Bryzek, 72, of Rte. 1, Powers, a passenger in Kowalski's car, were taken to St. Francis Hospital after they complained of pain. Neither person was admitted.

Joan Woodard, Rte. 1, Cornell, reported to State Police that she hit a buck deer with her car on County Rd. 523 about eight miles north of Cornell at 11 a.m. Friday. She was not injured.

Would Broaden Bill Of Rights

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — The Bill of Rights will in time be broadened to include the right to health and the right to be different, says Dr. Richard Farson, director of the Western Behavioral Sciences Institute, La Jolla, Calif.

Farson told the International Design Conference that other constitutional rights will include the right to intimacy, sexual fulfillment, travel, study, altruism and leisure.

Product Liability Grows

Faulty Machine Maker Is Suit Target

The American manufacturers has problems enough with taxes, labor and competition, but he's getting another that looms in menacing and not well defined dimensions.

It is product liability.

It was the topic for the first session of the Upper Peninsula Legal Institute in Escanaba, which moved outdoors in Friday's heat to the comfort of open air presentation at Karas Memorial Shell in Ludington Park. The speakers were Detroit attorneys Dean A. Robb, on the plaintiff's view, and Robert E. Rutt, on the defendant's view.

Last evening the Institute members and their wives heard Jean Worth, editor of the Escanaba Daily Press, on Upper Peninsula legal eccentricities and virtues, at the banquet session in the House of Ludington. Today the motor vehicle accident claim fund, workmen's compensation and Judiciary were on the program and the group was to lunch on the Coast Guard Cutter Mesquite.

New Legal Peril

Product liability is a growing field of law that is in a constant state of flux. It's hard

Dr. Cretnens said in cases where the suspect animal is found rabid, the local Health Department is notified immediately by telegram by the State Health Department lab at Lansing. Negative reports come by mail and take several days. No report has been received as yet.

Matilla Awarded Forest Lab Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Yalmar-Matilla Contracting, Inc., of Houghton has received a $378,000 contract for construction of a new forest engineering laboratory to be built on the Michigan Tech Campus, the General Services Administration announced Friday.

THE UPPER PENINSULA Legal Institute moved outdoors on Friday to Ludington Park's Karas Memorial Shell for a session on product liability presented by Dean A. Robb, seated, and Robert E. Rutt, speaking. Both are Detroit attorneys. Robb discussed the provocative new field of law on product liability from the plaintiff's view and Rutt from the defendant's viewpoint. (Daily Press Photo) to tell today, what the law affecting the subject is going to be tomorrow.

Robb and Rutt agreed that product liability lawsuits will not usually be brought against Joe Smith, but against U. S. Steel, General Motors, or some such corporate giant. There's a better likelihood of collecting, then, than when the suit is against a defendant of modest means.

The lawyers expect the product liability laws to become more liberal and widespread. Fourteen or 15 states now accept the doctrine of "strict" liability—Michigan not included.

It is only necessary in such states to prove that a product was defective and the plaintiff is entitled to recover damages.

Spread Predicted

Both Rutt and Robb expressed belief that this doctrine will probably become the law of the land, including Michigan. No Midwest industrial states have such a law at present, but trends indicate it's coming.

The product liability laws started off with mechanical products about five years ago. The reasoning advanced and accepted by some states was that if a person is hurt through the use of a product, the manufacturer is better able to stand the loss than the individual, because the manufacturer can pass on the lawsuit expense as a cost of doing business. It is better, by this reasoning, for the manufacturer to suffer, than for the individual to do so.

Biggies Are Sued

"I argue," said Rutt "that unfortunately the law is being directed against the larger corporation and the courts seem to be overlooking the fact that while it may be directed against larger corporations now, there are lots of little manu-

Program Starts In Webster Area

Summer recreation activities for the Webster area will begin Monday, June 27. The program has been greatly expanded this year because of the availability of extra help made possible by the College Work-Study Program under the sponsorship of Bay de Noc Community College.

Through participation in this federally financed program, City Recreation Director Paul Vardigan has been able to enlist the services of Pat Klinecz, Sue Sauve, Anne Erfourth and Sue Cousineau to direct an expanded program of Arts and Crafts for children from 5-12 years of age.

The Webster Area program will be directed by Miss Sauve and Miss Klinecz, and will offer projects for children 5-8 years of age from 9:00 to 10:30 a.m. and for the 9-12 year olds from 10:30-12:00.

The popular wading pool will again be supervised by Ellen Johnson and will be open each Monday through Friday from 1 to 5 p.m. The Arts and Crafts program at Royce Park will be under the direction of Miss Erfourth and Miss Cousineau, but will be delayed in opening until repairs on the shelter house at the park are completed. It is hoped that everything will be in readiness by Tuesday or Wednesday. Announcement will be made regarding exact opening date for the Royce opening.

Delta Considers Mental Health

Delta County is considering a number of proposals for development of mental health services in the area.

Included in the alternatives is joining with Marquette and Alger Counties in a tri-county unit or linking with Schoolcraft County.

Several methods of financing with federal, state and local funds are also being explored.

In a meeting at St. Francis Hospital, Mrs. Margaret Callies, R. N., of the Menominee office of the Delta-Menominee District Health Dept., explained the organization of the program which will start in 1967 in Marquette and Menominee.

Menominee County will operate under funds from Michigan Act 54 supplements by local funds.

A complete mental health program, including the service of a psychiatrist, psychologist and social worker will be available to Menominee and Marquette residents, Mrs. Callies said.

Delta County officials decided to call a later meeting to discuss mental health programs with a larger group. The Board of Supervisors has control over which program will be undertaken.

Attending the St. Francis Hospital meeting were Dr. Raymond Hockstad; Sister Hildegard, hospital administrator; Wayne St. Pierre, Catholic social services; Frank Waitovich, U. P. Child Guidance Clinic at Escanaba; Leo Alperovitz, Bay de Noc Community College; Raymond LaPorte, Community Action Agency; Dr. Mary Cretnens, director of the Delta-Menominee Health Dept., and Frank Stupak and Henry W. Vetzke, members of the Board of Supervisors.

One of the few remaining unbeaten softball teams in the Upper Peninsula bit the dust this week as Office Supply bowed to U.P. Power, 3-2, in Copper Country Commercial league action. . . . Bob Sibisky teamed the league leaders with a one-hitter and his mates reached veteran John Vencato for six safeties. . . . Office Supply had won nine straight entering the contest.

Winner was Ishpeming's Garrett Leffler, a sophomore at Northern Michigan University. . . . The tournament drew a field of 100 golfers from courses throughout the Peninsula.

Tim Downs got the Marquette City softball tournament off to an auspicious start this week when he fired a no-hit, no-run game in the opener as his Hillcrest Dairy defeated Dormitory, 9-0. . . . Downs didn't issue a walk and the only base runner for Dormitory gained life when the catcher dropped a third strike.

Ellis Wins 2nd In Row

By The Associated Press

Sammy Ellis, who pitched himself back into his old job two weeks ago, apparently is losing it again.

Ellis, an ace reliever two years ago who became a 22-game winner as a starter last season, won his second straight game Friday night as the Cincinnati Reds annihilated San Francisco 12-1 for their seventh straight victory.

The winning streak constitutes half of the victory total this season for Ellis, who has lost 11 games, and should help keep him out of the bullpen — a place he doesn't mind having visited but one he doesn't want to stay in.

As a relief pitcher in 1964, Ellis compiled a 10-3 record. Reds' Manager Don Heckner returned him to that job two weeks ago in hopes that the 25-year-old right-hander would start pitching well again.

Elsewhere in the NL, Los Angeles blanked Atlanta 4-0. Pittsburgh topped Philadelphia 3-1. Houston defeated St. Louis 4-1 and New York stopped Chicago 4-2.

Ellis stopped the first-place Giants on six hits, shutting them out until the eighth when Don Mason homered. John Edwards drove in four runs with a pair of singles while Deron Johnson knocked in three and Tommy Harper two.

Pascual Felled By Pena

Tigers Settle For Split With Twins As Bats Cool

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers who collected base hits with ease on their recent Eastern swing had to settle for a split with the Minnesota Twins last night after being out-hit in both ends of a doubleheader.

The second-place Bengals ran their winning streak to six by eking out a 2-1 decision in the opener but they were bombed 9-2 in the nightcap.

Overshadowing the Tigers' bid to pick up ground on first place Minnesota was an injury to Minnesota pitcher Camilo Pascual who was struck below the left ear while batting in the sixth inning of the second game.

The pitch, a sidearm curve ball from reliever Orlando Pena, hit Pascual just below his batting helmet.

Pascual appeared unconscious when Minnesota players reached his side, but he recovered and was helped to the dressing room for first aid before being taken to Detroit Osteopathic Hospital for overnight observation.

Pascual held the Tigers to five hits through five innings and had a 3-2 lead before he was felled.

Pete Cimino turned in a strong relief performance as he outlasted the Tigers the rest of the way, allowing only one hit and striking out six in a four-inning workout.

Tiger acting manager Bob Swift took a bum rap from many of the hot crowd of 41,062 fans when he lifted second game starter Hank Aguirre for a pinchhitter in the Tiger fifth with two out and nobody on base. Most of the workers in the press box joined in the second guessing.

Jim Bunning

Bunning Whiffs 2,000th Batter But Takes Loss

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Jim Bunning says he doesn't know why he's successful with the strikeout pitch.

"I'm not an overpowering type of pitcher," the 34-year-old right hander observed after reaching a plateau shared by only 18 other pitchers in major-league history.

"Each club has one guy who can throw harder than I can," he said.

Bunning recorded his 2,000th strikeout when he whiffed Jesse Gonder, Pittsburgh catcher, in the second inning of Friday night's game between the Phils and Pirates.

Bunning found it a little difficult speaking about strikeouts after suffering his third straight defeat. The Pirates, behind Bob Veale's five-hit pitching and solo homers by Robert Clemente (11), Gonder (4) and Willie Stargell (15), won 3-1. The Phils scored their only run in the ninth as Veale recorded his eighth win in 13 decisions. The Phils now have scored one run for Bunning in his last three decisions.

Was he aware of the impending record?

"Sure, I've been looking forward to it since spring training when I realized I needed 107 to make the 2,000."

Bunning admitted before Friday's game that for the first time in his 10-year major-league career he found himself trying for strikeouts.

He was eager to join the club headed by the great Walter Johnson, who struck out 3,508 batters in his career. The only active pitchers with more than 2,000 strikeouts are Robin Roberts (2,581), Sandy Koufax (2,211) and Don Drysdale (2,015).

What does he feel contributes to his ability to strike out so many hitters?

"I guess it's because I'm not afraid to set up a hitter. I mean moving the ball around, one-high and the next low and away, and then coming back with another high hard one."

"You have to keep the hitter guessing, get him to swing at your pitch, not the one he wants."

Rapid River Makes Home Stand Sunday

Rapid River will make its first home appearance in the Lake Superior baseball league Sunday at 2 against Marquette.

Manager Poly Viat's club scored a 5-4 decision over Treenay-Skandia at Treenay last Sunday.

Warren Groleau is expected to get the mound nod against Marquette. He pitched a three-hitter last week.

Sports In Brief

NEW YORK (AP)—The Lincoln University, Pa. basketball team left Friday night for Dakar, Senegal, for an exhibition tour in Senegal, Mauritania, Mali, Upper Volta and the Ivory Coast.

Rock Keeps Slugging Pace With Two Shots

By The Associated Press

The Rock still is rolling. Continuing a homer assault that began Wednesday, Rocky Colavito fired a two-homer salvo for Cleveland Friday night and now has collected six in his last four games while lifting his total for the season to 13—almost double what it was three days ago.

The Indians, however, have been unable to give Colavito much assistance and have split the four games, bowing to Kansas City and the A's 15-hit attack, 7-5, while their slugging outfielder put on his latest one-man show.

Colavito flexed his muscles in Fenway Park when he slammed three homers in Wednesday's doubleheader. He added one more against the Red Sox Thursday, then moved his show back to Cleveland and the more spacious Municipal Stadium.

Rocky continued to roll, driving in all of the Indians' runs with a solo homer in the fourth inning, a three-run job in the seventh and a run-producing single in the ninth.

Colavito also was robbed of another homer when Jim Gosger reached high above the left field fence to haul in his long drive in the second inning.

The loss left the third-place Indians three games behind the American League-leading Baltimore Orioles, who lost to California 5-4 in 14 innings. Second-place Detroit closed to within 1½ of the top with a split, beating Minnesota 2-1 and losing 9-2.

Elsewhere, the New York Yankees whipped the Chicago White Sox 5-2 and Boston belted Washington 5-1.

Mike Hersberger collected three key hits as the A's overcame Colavito's homer hammering. Hersberger contributed a run-producing double in a four-run sixth inning uprising, then singled in the seventh and ninth as Kansas City added single runs in each inning. The Angels ended a 4-hour, 21-minute marathon by pushing across a run against the Orioles in the 14th on singles by Joe Adcock and Rick Reichardt, a walk by Tom Satiano.

The Orioles had played catch up most of the game, twice pulling into ties on blurs by Boog Powell and Paul Blair.

Elston Howard hit the first grand slam homer of his 12-year major league career in the eighth inning off Juan Pizarro, powering the Yankees to their victory. Pizarro had checked New York on four hits over the first seven innings.

Tony Congiario and Joe Foy homered for the Red Sox, providing more than enough support for Jose Santiago. Santiago, bringing his record to 6-4, was touched for only six hits but lost his shutout bid on Willie Kirkland's homer in the fifth.

tennis
AND religion

It happened on the very first point as everyone knew it would. The champ was testing the challenger's backhand.

Champs are like that. Right from the start they probe for some flaw in the opponent's game. And when they find it — look out!

Life is just as probing and relentless. Quickly it uncovers our weaknesses . . . then assaults them again and again.

Is that why men go to church? It's one of the reasons!

Victories never come with glorying in our uncertain strength. They come with doing something about our proven weaknesses.

Long ago it became trite to observe that the Church is meant for sinners rather than saints. But it is sound Christian living to recognize honestly our shortcomings . . . and constantly, persistently to seek God's help in overcoming them.
